FRIDAY MAY 11, 1877.

Interesting from the Black HAIs. CAMP ON THE ROAD, May 1, 1877. Editors of the Dispatch : By the above you will perceive that I am travelling-where to I cannot at present tell. Our party are looking for a good quartz mine, and while we find a great many, we also find owners for them. My last letter was from the great city in the Black Hills called Deadwood. So much les been said and written about this celebrated place that I am afraid to enter the lists; but I will say this: that the city has a popul tion of nearly 7,000 people, stores of all kinds, and plenty of saloons-in fact, four liquor saloons for every store is the ratio. Gambling hells are plenty, and are the real gold mines of the place. Stores let readily at $300 per mouth, and when I write that they are mostly built of logs you can imagine the business they do.

SUNDAY is the great day for business. All the miners proceed on that day to Desawood to lay in their stock of provisions. This desic, they turn into the gambling hells and stay there till all their money is gone, when, half drunk with the vilest of rot-gut, they stagger back with bags of food to camp to commence on Monday their week's week. Theatres, concert saloons, and all binds of low places flourish on the Sabbath day. There is every kind of buildings except churches. So, without commenting upon the wickedness of the place, we will leave it to your readers to smagine what the place is like.

PERICES. Hav is selling at $260 per ton; potates, $12 per bushel; and everything else ingroportion. A bottle of ink, such as as asid for five cents in Richmond, can be bought here for forty cents. In my last I mentioned the fact that fins was no place for poor men. The same holds good to-day. Thousands are arriving here every week, and I wenture to assert that they will not average one dollar to the mace. The miners will only employ experienced men, and the pilgrims, for such are greenborns called, cannot find anything to do, and the suffering among this class is something more than I can write about.

We are -tenting on the old campground "-that is to say, we are up among the great quartz mines, such as the "Alpha," "Onega." "Hidden Treasure," "De Smet," and severalothers; all to work day and night People with money can do well here, either in business or by purchasing an interest in some mine. Plenty of miners here who have wines that show up good, but they have no means to develop them, and it is this class that the moneyed-men can make use of to their ad-

There are a few families there, and it is very easy to tell in what cabin the betterhalf is located. If we had more females here-good, religious ones, a mean-the place would soon become civilized, and churches would spring up in place of gambling saloons and other places of similar

We have had snow sere for the past week, and looking out this morning it can see snow in every direction, with prospect of a good snow-storm before night. My party, which consisted of six when I arrived, has been reduced to four, two having become strapped (broke). We are following up the great belt of quartz, and expect before long to strike a big "bonanza," It is very hard work getting up at sunrise and walking and working all day. The handest part of the work is walking up the mountain-sides, and those that are acquainted with me will wonder how I do it. I wonder myself, but I manage to get over a good deal of ground. I find that the climate is splendid, and I have thrown Dr. Wellford's prescriptions to the gulches.

about the latter part of June. My bald-headed friend in your city thought he would be exempted from sealping. For his fu-formation I would say that he is correct, but that the noble red man cuts off the ears of all such; so that he knows what he may meet with if he comes this way.

Sitting Bull will probably send some of his men this way to raid off horses and pick off men who are outside of the mining camp; but we do not think that he will trouble those at work in the mines.

Our party expects to strike tent in a few days, and will start towards the Big Horn, but as we walk, our progress will be slow; so that you can expect to hear from me again in ten days, I may have some trouble in getting a letter forwarded, but will do my best. Don't fail to post Dispatch to address.
